NATION TO HALT IN HONOR OF THE UNKNOWN DEAD

Two Minute Suspension of All Activities at Noon On Armistice Day Asked in Honor of Heroes.

Washington, Sept. 24. — The nation will stand at pause for two minutes Armistice Day to pay honor to the unknown dead of the great war.

Detailed plans for the ceremony at Arlington National Cemetery that day, when the body brought back from France is to be buried, were made public by the War Department today and include a proclamation by President Warren G. Harding calling for the two-minute halt at noon throughout the nation to be devoted to prayer and reverent memories for the dead.

The body returned from France on the cruiser Olympia will reach Washington after nightfall November 9, and will lie in state in the Capitol Building until 9 o'clock Armistice Day morning, November 11.

It then will be escorted by a great official mourning party to Arlington Cemetery, the line of march being guarded throughout its length by troops stationed along the way.

The mourning party will include all living holders of the Congressional Medal of Honor who may desire to come, one war veteran out of every 10,000 who served from each state in the great war, an officer and an enlisted man from each unit of the Army and Navy, and representatives of the American Legion and other veterans' organizations and of the various patriotic societies.

From American military posts everywhere in the world minute guns of mourning will sound from sunrise until after the burial ceremonies in Washington have been completed.

MISSIONARY TO SPEAK AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Miss Mary Forman, missionary to India, who is a guest of Miss Lucy Lee, of Market street, will speak at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Miss Forman is the daughter of the famous Dr. Charles Forman, native of this county, who was for fifty years a missionary in India and for whom Forman University was named. It is expected that a very large audience will hear this very interesting woman tell of her experiences in India.

LESLIE ARTHUR'S BODY BURIED BY LEGION

First Mason County Man to Fall in World War Is Buried at Mayslick Cemetery.

The body of Leslie H. Arthur, son of Mrs. C. C. Arthur, the first Mason county man to give his life in the World War and the man for whom the local Post American Legion is named, was buried at the Mayslick cemetery Saturday morning with military honors, a detachment of former soldiers, members of the Leslie H. Arthur Post American Legion, being in charge.

The body, guarded by a guard of honor, lay at the Legion rooms in Sutton street Saturday morning and there many friends and relatives gathered. Following a short service by the Legion members, the body was removed to Mayslick for burial.

At the cemetery there was a large concourse of friends and neighbors to pay their last tribute of respect and to witness the beautiful ceremony of the Legion.

The body of Ira S. Sdell, another Mayslick man, who fell during the World War, also arrived Friday night and was buried by the Legion at the Mayslick cemetery at the same time.

AT Mrs. S. A. R. S. Millinery Opening Friday and Saturday, the best line of fall and winter hats may be seen. The line of salons is the talk of the town.

The second advertising car of the Rhoda Royal circus arrived in Maysville Friday night and the members of the advertising crew are today sowing down the city with advertising posters announcing the coming of the big circus.

WILL CASE WILL BE FOUGHT THROUGH HIGHER COURTS

New Trial Is Sought and If Refused, Indications Are That Sphar Will Case Will Go To Court Of Appeals.

Immediately following the verdict of the jury in the Sphar will case breaking the probated will of the late Andrew C. Sphar, wealthy brick manufacturer, attorneys for the defense of the will asked leave for the filing of a motion for a new trial. This motion will likely be acted upon by Circuit Judge C. D. Newell within a short time and if a new trial is refused, indications are that the case will be appealed to the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

The verdict holding the paper in question not to be the true last will and testament of A. C. Sphar, deceased, was a unanimous verdict, it is learned. The jury deliberated on the case between fifteen and twenty minutes. The verdict was returned shortly after 4 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Probably more interest was created in the contest of the Sphar will than in any case which has been tried in the Mason circuit court in recent years. Trial of the case began on Monday, September 12, and every inch of the way was fought by shrewd attorneys on both sides.

The contestants were represented by Slattery & Rees while the will was defended by Worthington, Browning & Reed and J. M. Collins.

The contestants, who were relatives of the late Andrew C. Sphar, were: J. S. Sphar, Robert A. Sphar and Minnie B. Sphar, his wife; Jacob S. Sphar and Julia Sphar, his wife; Chester O. Sphar, Dan Fuller and Mary Fuller, his wife; May Sphar Eakin and W. R. Eakin, her husband; Alice E. Sphar, Dan S. Fuller, as next friend of Nellie Cooper and Harry Cooper, her husband.

The defendants, who were beneficiaries of the will were Andrew Sphar Clark and Harry T. Miles, executors of Andrew C. Sphar, deceased; Andrew Sphar Clark and Mary Clark, his wife; Harry T. Miles, L. V. Carmack, Mrs. Cloc Carmack, Craig Carmack, Mrs. Carmack, Mox Zehmelster; Eva Cotton, David Shaw, William Clark and Mary Clark, his wife; Sallie Stone, Georgia Antle and Ollie S. Antle, her husband; Herman Clark, Maysville Commandery No. 10 Knights Templar (Incorporated); Maysville Cemetery Company (Incorporated); the First Baptist church of Maysville, Ky., and W. H. Hall, A. L. Gluscock and Frank L. Hendrickson, trustees of the First Baptist church of Maysville.

It was estimated from the list of securities in the paper that the Sphar estate was worth approximately $70,000, not including the homestead on East Second street.

The provisions of the will were as follows: Andrew Sphar Clark and Harry T. Miles, 237 shares of stock in the Sphar Brick Company, equally and jointly. L. V. Carmack, Washington, D. C., $5,000.

Mrs. Chloe Carmack, $5,000, in trust for her two children, Craig and Mary Carmack.

Andrew Sphar Clark, residence property.

Daniel Fuller, $5,000 and two small tracts of land in Campbell county.

Harry T. Miles, $5,000.

Jacob Sphar, Dallas, Tex., $1,000.

Mrs. May Eakin, Pittsburg, $1,000.

Mox Zehmelster, $1,000.

Eva Cotton, David Shaw, William Clark and Mrs. Sallie Stone, $500 each.

Mrs. Georgia Antle, $1,000.

Herman Clark, $1,000.

First Baptist Church, $500.

Maysville Commandery No. 10, K. T., $100.

Maysville Cemetery Co., $200.

The residue of the estate is bequeathed to Andrew Sphar Clark and wife, Mary Clark.

Throughout the long trial the court room was occupied by many women, greatly interested. During the arguments Thursday afternoon and all day Friday, the court room was nearly filled with listeners.

MANY EXPECTED TO HEAR NEW PASTORS.

It is expected that there will be large audiences at both of the Southern Methodist churches Sunday morning and evening to hear and welcome the new pastors. While both of the pastors were present on last Sunday, they only delivered talks to their new congregations.

MANY ANXIOUS TO CONTRIBUTE TO BAND.

The committee of managers of the Maysville Boys' Band, report that they have met with much success in their soliciting for the support of the band for next year. Many people have been anxious to make contributions and many new contributors have been added to the large list.

NO ARRESTS YET OF AUTO BANDITS

Owner of the Abandoned Car With Damage Suit in Seaman Court.

No arrests have yet been made of suspected parties in the Panhandle pike highway robbery case which occurred Monday night of last week, when two men bringing a load of hogs to the West Union fair were held up by five bandits who later wrecked and abandoned the Ford car they were driving, in a collision with an Essex car owned and driven by Stanley Nixon.

The young men who hired the Ford car from Thomas Shiveley, Monday evening can not be located, having fled the county. Arrests are expected in the case soon.

As a result of the collision between the two cars, Thomas Shiveley, owner of the Ford machine, brought suit in Squire E. S. Young's court at Seaman, against Stanley Nixon owner of the Essex car, for $75.75.

The case was heard Monday and the plaintiff was given judgment for the amount asked. The defendant gave notice of appeal. Mr. Shiveley was represented by Attorney C. E. Robuck and Mr. Nixon by Attorney F. A. Shiveley—West Union (O.) Defender.

BASEBALL.

Negotiations are under way between the managements of the Maysville and Winchester ball clubs for a series of games to decide the Kentucky semi-pro championship. A telegram from F. P. Ramsey business manager of the Hustlers shows that that team is anxious for the series between the two towns. His answer and proposition was to start the series with two games in this city on Saturday and Sunday, October first and second and then follow up with two games in Winchester on the Saturday and Sunday next. At present manager Reese is in Cincinnati on business and his advice will be awaited before an answer accepting their proposition is sent back. Saturday baseball has never proved a go in this city and this is causing delay in the signing of the contract but it is an assured fact that a series between these two clubs will start on either next Saturday or Sunday.

Sunday's game will give the fans a chance to size up the strength of the local club since the addition of two new players. Many will remember Darnell as the fleet outfielder who performed in left field for Brooksville when they played here, and of course Valdeen needs no introduction to the fans. Cooper will be on the mound and Monk behind the bat. Play starts at 2 p. m.

ELECTED DELEGATE OF REBEKAHS.

At the regular meeting of Friendship Lodge of Rebekahs held Friday evening at Odd Fellows' Hall, Mrs. Joseph Wells was elected delegate from the local lodge to the state Rebekah Assembly which will be held at Louisville the first Wednesday and Thursday in November.

Mrs. C. C. Arthur, of East Second street, was advised by telegram Friday that her son, Forman Arthur, while at work on his farm near Walton, Ky., fell sustaining injuries to one of his eyes which may prove serious. Young Arthur was removed to a hospital at Cincinnati for treatment.

Officers of the B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist church announce that regular meetings will be resumed for the fall and winter beginning next Sunday evening. During the summer months these monthly meetings were suspended there will be an interesting program for Sunday evening and all the young people of the congregation are urged to attend.

WIDE INTEREST TAKEN IN BIG HEALTH MEETING

Authorities and Leaders in Health Work On Program at Big Cincinnati Conference in October.

The wide interest aroused all over the country in the Cincinnati Health Exposition which will be held in Music Hall, October 15 to 22, is being evidenced every day by the hundreds of letters that are pouring into the office of Colonel Peter E. Traub, U. S. A., chairman of the exposition executive committee in Exchange Hall, Chamber of Commerce.

Some weeks ago an invitation was sent by Mayor Galvin to the mayors and health commissioners of more than 500 cities and towns asking that representatives be appointed to visit the exposition. Scores of acceptances have already been received and at present there is every indication that during the health exposition week, Cincinnati will witness a gathering of health experts that has never before been assembled in any American city.

Word was received Monday from the White House that Brigadier General Charles E. Sawyer, personal physician to President Harding would visit the exposition and would deliver an address on co-ordinating the health work of the federal government.

General Sawyer, in his acceptance said that while he was subject to the call of the White House, he would use his utmost endeavor to be present. Perhaps the most notable figure amongst the health experts of the country who will visit the exposition is Dr. Royal S. Copeland health commissioner of New York City. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, noted pure food expert, will be another visitor and already an acceptance has been received from Dr. Woods Hutchinson and Dr. William A. Evans.

Either Health Commissioner Dr. Henry F. Vaughan or Deputy health commissioner W. F. Walker will be present to represent the department of the city of Detroit. Mayor Alexander T. Connell and the health commissioner of Scranton will come from Pennsylvania to learn what Cincinnati has done in the matter of solving civic health problems.

Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald has appointed a committee of prominent physicians and other business and professional men and women to visit the exposition in order that Cleveland may benefit by Cincinnati's experience. A delegation of more than 350 citizens

ELMER GALBREATH IS RELEASED FROM PRISON

Ripley Man, Former Cincinnati Banker, Is Released From Federal Prison At Atlanta Friday.

Special dispatches from Atlanta, Ga., received in Cincinnati Friday night, said that Elmer E. Galbreath, former president of the Second National Bank of Cincinnati and a native of Brown county, Ohio, had been released from the United States Prison there on parole. The application for parole had been granted by the board and approved by Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty. Galbreath was sent to serve a seven-year sentence after a hard fight extending over several years to have the sentence set aside. He served about one-third of the sentence.

Charles H. Davis, president of the Second National prior to Galbreath, who was sentenced at the same time, was paroled some time ago. Both were convicted of handling funds of the bank in an illegal manner and of concealing the condition of the bank.

From points as far distant as Cheyenne, Wyoming, replies to Mayor Galvin's letter has been received by the exposition committee assuring the support and active co-operation of the mayors, health commissioners and other leading citizens.

INJURY KILLED MISS RAPPE AND NOT ALCOHOLISM

Says Hotel Physician Who Examined Actress Immediately After the Alleged Attack By Arbuttle.

San Francisco, Sept. 24. — Miss Virginia Rappe showed symptoms of an internal injury immediately after she was stricken, following the party in which E. Arbuttle's rooms, and whatever evidence there may have been of alcoholism was overshadowed by her injuries, declared Dr. Arthur Beardslee, house physician of the Hotel St. Francis. In a statement made to Assistant District Attorney Milton C. Ren today, Dr. Beardslee treated Miss Rappe in the early stages of her illness.

Dr. Beardslee returned today from a hunting trip on which he started the day after the Arbuttle affair. Dr. Beardslee said that on the morning of September 6, after examining Miss Rappe, he was relieved of the case that morning by Dr. E. M. Rumwell, he declared, and did not treat the actress again.

The preliminary hearing of Arbuttle on a charge of murder in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe entered its third day in the Police Court of Judge Sylvain J. Lazarus here today. Al Sennacher, business manager for Miss Rappe and guest at Arbuttle's party, was the principal witness at yesterday's session. Sennacher testified that there was much liquor at the party, many women and considerable music from a phonograph.

Sennacher said that Arbuttle, Lowell Sherman and Mrs. Barbara Maude Belmont were attired in pajamas and declared considerable liquor was drunk by the participants.

KENTUCKY'S RICHES.

Two varieties of marble—pink and gray—have been discovered, it is stated, in Pulaski county. Marble as good as that which has been quarried in Tennessee is reported in Barren county. In Hardin the owner of what was considered a poor farm, much of it sand, sold a few acres of sand this summer to a manufacturer for several times the value of the whole farm as farm land.

Several varieties of valuable clay have begun to attract general attention. A preliminary report by the State Geological Survey indicates $61,901,085,305 worth of crude oil "locked in the Devonian black shale." The key to the lock is not missing. When it is turned sundry counties will share the profit of its turning. Rock asphalt "sufficient to surface a million miles of roads" is in sight.

These are among the newly discovered, and to others than geologists the newly discovered, resources of the state. Oil recovery by well drilling is a large and profitable industry, but the extent of the possible development of oil remains a theme of fascinating speculation. Gas is as yet in a state of under-development, although its existence has been known commonly for a long time.

Kentucky is moving toward the front as a coal producing state—to mention one of the older known mineral resources—but its deposits of bituminous coal have been scratched merely. Its coal lands have been skirted here and there tapped by railroads which are overburdened by the resulting avalanche of coal.

It has been said, by some persons speaking bitterly, and by a larger number speaking truly but with an amused onlooker's detached interest, that a Kentuckian who has money to invest is more willing to buy shares in a gold mine in Santo Domingo or South America than to stake his surplus upon the development of the resources of Kentucky.

Nearly a half century ago—1873-80—Nathaniel Southgate Shaler, a distinguished geologist, a native of Kentucky, but a graduate of the Lawrence Scientific School of Harvard University, was in charge of the Kentucky Geological Survey. Afterward he was director of the Atlantic Division of the United States Geological Survey and president of the Geological Society of America. His "Kentucky Geological Reports and Memoirs," in seven volumes, reflected his interest in, and belief in, the hidden wealth of the state.

The disposition of the average Kentuckian of Professor Shaler's period was to look upon a geologist as a man, like the entomologist, interested in nature; a learned man finding delight in delving as the entomologist finds pleasure in catching butterflies. Little attention was paid, popularly, to his work. No great amount of attention has been paid to that of his successors. Yet each in turn has said to the people of the state: "Here lies one kind of wealth. There lies another. In the hills beyond the horizon treasure awaits those who will pick it up."

And the tale is still being told.

And the story still is falling upon ears unattentive to its meaning. While the Kentucky Geological Survey still prosecutes its work obscurely, is so far as the state is concerned.

Less than half of the state has been mapped for geological investigation because of the limited resources of the Geological Department.

At the rate the work progresses another century will pass before the whole state will be mapped, although Ohio and West Virginia, nearby states somewhat similar in topography and resources, have completed their mapping, so that every farm and quarry may be touched by the finger of a geologist.

Even the project of making the Mammoth Cave tract a national park has been crippled by an utter lack of authentic information as to what are its resources and its claims to preferment by the Federal Government.

Just now some of the newer resources of the state are attracting attention and provoking discussion. What are the resources of the still uncharted areas in our still undeveloped, unmapped state—largely unexplored by geologists—nobody can say.

The work still left undone, the wealth still unclaimed, uncharted, unsuspected, in Kentucky must provoke the shade of Nathaniel Southgate Shaler, if it still haunts over Kentucky, to say that a prophet is without honor in Kentucky if he is a scientist whose work is to show what may be done, profitably, with natural resources. —From the Louisville Courier-Journal.

CUTTING TREES FAST.

Annual forest cutting in New England and New York is approximately 3,262,000 cords, and at this rate the supply will last approximately 17 years, says "The Permanent Builder" (Chicago) in its co-operation with the American Forestry Association for a national forest policy. Estimated annual cutting in the Lake States is 3,030,000 cords, and if continued will exhaust the supply in that region within 18 years the statement says. Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina, with their smaller forest resources are even worse off, the annual cutting being calculated at 1,470,000 cords, at which rate the spruce hemlock and fir will last but ten years. Only in Alaska, Washington, Oregon, and California are the reserves in no immediate danger of exhaustion if the cutting continues at the present rate of 2,218,000 cords a year.

DOZEN CULL HENS PRODUCE THREE EGGS IN SEVEN DAYS.

Culling was the means of removing 12 non-producers of eggs from the flock of 60 White Plymouth Rock hens owned by George Hill, a Marshall county farmer, according to a report he has just made on a demonstration conducted by the College of Agriculture extension division. The week before the culling the 60 hens produced at total of 61 eggs while the week following the 48 hens which were retained as layers produced 43 eggs while the 12 culls laid only three.

UNCLE TED'S BED-TIME STORIES.

The World Club of Trouble — Only Quarrels Result from Geneva Meet.

"I don't see why you should ask Uncle Ted to tell us anything about the world club," said Ruth. "We know the United States will never go into it and the danger is gone."

"Listen here, Ruth," replied Jack. "I agree that MOST of the danger of going into that club is past but after some of the things I've heard lately I'd like to know some more about it. I was talking to Johnny the other day, and I made up my mind that just so long as the world club is a club there is always the danger of us being dragged into it."

"Well, how's the little pessimist this evening?" asked Uncle Ted, who caught the last words of Jack as he came into the house. "Seems like you can't get off that subject."

"No, I can't," said Jack. "Not so long as I hear that some of the countries in the club are still hoping that the United States will join."

"Jack, come over here and sit down. You, too, Ruth, and I'll tell you some interesting things about this subject which seems to interest you so much."

"Jack, your information isn't so far wrong at that. The world club is having a lot of trouble, naturally. It isn't working out any more than some of us knew it wouldn't months and months ago. Now certain countries, seeing the trouble ahead, are mighty anxious and are grabbing at the smallest straw of hope that the United States will swing around and join hands to save them. The world club is meeting now in Geneva, Switzerland. It is supposed of be a meeting of representatives from many countries who have gathered together to settle all matters 'around the table' in a peaceful, quiet manner. But what is that meeting proving?"

"It is proving that the United States, because of the courage of certain far-sighted men, was absolutely right when it held aloof and said that the world club would be a body which would bring about war and make for more trouble between countries instead of bringing about peace and quiet."

"Here is what has happened. The world club had no sooner begun its meeting than serious trouble was seen to be starting between the South American countries of Chile, Peru and Bolivia. Bolivia is fighting for an outlet to the sea while the other countries are quarrelling over who should get certain pieces of land."

"What was the world club told them to do?" asked Jack.

"Nothing, Jack. They have kept postponing any action on the question and many people wouldn't be surprised to see the club adjourn without taking action, leaving the matter worse than it was before. Here is what it means. Suppose the club did decide that Bolivia could have a seaport. Do you think Chile would stand for it? I should say not. And if the club decided afterward to use force, the force would have to come from the European members of the club and that would mean that it would go absolutely against the Monroe Doctrine, and we would have to tell Europe to keep her hands off of America. And suppose the club decided that Chile should have the land that both she and Peru want, or the other way around. What would the decision amount to? Nothing, because there would be no force behind it. In every case involving South America there would always be the question of force to back it up coming from Europe, and Europe

WOMEN WHO CANNOT WORK

Read Mrs. Corley's Letter and Benefit by Her Experience

Edmund, S.C. — "I was run down with nervousness and female trouble and suffered every month. I was not able to do any work and tried a lot of medicine, but got no relief. I saw your medicine advertised in a little book that was thrown in my door, and I had not taken two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before I could see it was helping me. I am keeping house now and am able to do all of my work. I cannot say enough for your medicine. It has done more for me than any doctor. I have not paper enough to tell you how much it has done for me and for my friends. You may print this letter if you wish." — ELIZABETH C. CORLEY, care of A. J. Corley, Edmund, S.C.

Ability to stand the strain of work is the privilege of the strong and healthy, but how our hearts ache for the weak and sickly women struggling with their daily rounds of household duties, with backaches, headaches, nervousness and almost every movement brings a new pain. Why will not the mass of letters from women all over this country, which we have been publishing, convince such women that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help them just as surely as it did Mrs. Corley?

FUNGI EAT THE WOOD.

Decay of wood is caused by living vegetable organisms known as fungi. The microscopic seeds or spores of these wood destroyers are produced in countless numbers from the mushrooms or mold-like growth which appears on rotten wood, says the American Forestry Magazine of Washington. Being easily disseminated by the wind they are present everywhere, and decay which seems to spring up spontaneously really only occurs where the spores have found favorable conditions of heat and moisture in which to develop.

They start their destructive work wherever wood is moist and especially where it is in contact with the ground, or with walls and foundations. Accordingly a good wood preservative must be sufficiently toxic or poisonous to the spores of the fungi to destroy them, and at the same time sufficiently permanent to continue performing this function. It must also be readily absorbed by the wood, cheap enough for general use.

SLAYER OF DANCER IS HIDDEN FOR SAFETY.

Paducah — It was learned that Deputy Constable F. J. Rhodes, held for the murder of Joe Rucks, has been taken out of the McCracken county jail because of fear of mob violence. Authorities refused to say where they took Rhodes, but it is understood that he is somewhere in the city under a heavy guard. Threats have been made against Rhodes, who shot and killed Rucks at a dance at Maxon Mill.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — Either the Far East has slipped past the supposedly advanced West or else Miss M. Lee, of Shanghai, China, believes in living up to what she reads about us and our women in these parts. She has been stopping here for a few days on her way back to Shanghai from a visit in England and she rather surprised even Fifth Avenue, when she went shopping. For her costume consisted of trousers and coat made of China silk and exactly the same as those worn by the men of China. It was not even "adapted" as New York girls to the style of men's knickerbockers when they do them for sport wear. It was a Chinese man's outfit, plain and simple.

Traffic at Columbus circle was tied up for fifteen minutes the other day, and Patrolman 7707 declares it was the only tie-up since he joined the traffic squad that didn't leave everybody in a bad humor. A squirrel who ignored the rules against jay-walking did it. The squirrel darted out of Central Park and started across the Circle headed straight for the white lights of Broadway. Patrolman 7707 saw it and lunged but missed it. The adventuresome park fugitive darted under a glossy limousine leading a long procession of cars. The driver saw it and his heart refused to let him run it down. He stopped his own car and the procession had to follow suit. Regardless of the imprecations of those behind him, he would not proceed until the scurrying little animal had been caught under somebody's late straw hat, while an almost hysterical crowd gathered and tried to render assistance. Finally the squirrel was restored to the park, the chauffeurs breathed free once more and traffic moved.

One New Yorker, at least, has faith in her fellow-beings and to date this faith has been justified. She is inclined to carelessness and is never sure of bringing home all of the possessions with which she starts out. So on the inside of a fur neckpiece which she wears most of the time, she has stitched a tape indelibly printed with her name and address. "Three times I have left that scarf on subways or in hotels," she says, "and three times it has been returned to me, twice by mail and once in person. You can't tell me that people aren't honest." She admits that it is neither a very valuable nor a very beautiful scarf but insists that it has no bearing on the case; that a lot of people have none at all.

The most exciting swimming contest ever staged in New York was undoubtedly the one at the Madison Square Garden the other night, when Joseph P. Cawthorn, who is usually as successful a fisherman as he is a comedian, endeavored to "land" Miss Mille Gado, champion swimmer of Denmark. Cawthorn was armed with a trout reel, a split bamboo rod, and a line of unusual strength. The line was fastened to the swimmers belt and then the tug was on. Twice Miss Gado won and then in the third and last contest, Cawthorn landed her.

MOTHER PRAISES WORK OF ARMY'S TRAINING CAMP

Mother Tells of Good Citizens Army Training Camp Has Done For Her Boy in Letter.

The following letter, written by the mother of one of the young men who attended the Citizens' Military Training Camp of the First Corps Area held at Camp Devens, Mass., during the month of August, was originally published in the Newton, Mass., Graphic, which is published in the home town of the Secretary of War. What was done for this one boy has been done for approximately 12,000 other boys throughout the United States in the camps held in the different Corps Areas.

The letter reads as follows: "On the stage we sometimes see transformation scenes, but none can surpass what some visitors saw at the Citizen's Military Training Camp at Camp Devens.

"After the four weeks training our boy who went to the camp with rather hazy ideas of what life is good for and the effort that must be put forth to make it good for something, is home again with ideas so clarified, with an outlook so far reaching as to almost transform him into a manhood.

"When in June he learned of the Training Camp he thought it might be a good thing for other boys, but whether he wanted to enlist—well he must think about it. To give a month to occupations in which he had no special interest did not appeal to him.

"He kept thinking about it and finally decided to throw doubt to the winds and had his name registered—the die was cast. All the preliminaries completed with, his suit case in hand early Monday, August 1, he appeared on the ground with the other 1200 "cits." Uniform donned, Company assigned, chums chosen, the new life was inaugurated.

"What has happened? A training in so short a time that it is almost marvelous. Stopping shoulders straightened, a firm, alert, rapid military step in place of a slouching gait, eyes bright and clear and wide open, voice strong and resonant, in fact our boy has command of himself. He has emerged from a state of indifference and is ready to turn his capacities to the best account.

"For a review — "We washed our belts, put on clean clothes, blocked our hats, shined our shoes, cleaned our rifles and changed our buttons." Nothing but perfection on these processes will "pass muster." Unwritten laws of good manners, consideration for others and good fellowship come from association with good fellows who want to write them in their lives. The boys were taught to observe carefully, to be punctual, prompt, precise, exact in their work to do their best every time.

"When these boys are ready for jobs Mr. Edison will find more than 32 out of 718 who will meet his requirements and not refuse work because they will get dirt on their hands. No better school for atrophied brains than the camp school. Where is the host who will provide clothing for his guests? Uncle Sam has done it and has done it generously. Khaki uniforms, army shoes, shirts, legging are on the list. Good beds and bedding and good things to eat, including a bountiful supply of pie, all kinds, dear to the stomachs of all New England boys and to other stomachs too.

"An American boy in earnest with a full average mental equipment, good digestion and a yearly 'let up' in such a camp ennobled him in a decade to join the ranks of those citizens in every community who are highly respected and esteemed because of their example and their interest in all movements for the uplift of those they meet in their daily walks.

"Thanks, strong and long, for the officers of the War Department who have carried out so thoroughly and efficiently the plans for the training camps through which our boys will be better prepared for everything promoting peace. Why should I add war? There will never be another if the predictions for the Lewisite gas are realized. A few tons of it are guaranteed to make this planet as bare as a billiard ball."

MUSICAL SHOW HERE THURSDAY HAS A BIG CAST

Big California and New York Success Here Next Week Has Wonderful Record.

From the very playing of the overture, even before the first curtain has been drawn, one would gather that "Sun-Kist" is an unusual show, and one would be right in so gathering, for the musical director "Ibue" Wolff leads the orchestra and the soloists and the chorus, not with a baton or a violin or from the piano stool as do the more conventional directors but with a jazz trumpet, more politely called a cornet. From this it must be taken that jazz is the only kind of music dispensed, for though the performance runs a well varied selection of numbers all the way from operatic and classical as rendered by the prima donna, Miss Charlotte Woodruff, who is the possessor of a most remarkable coloratura voice to the newer "blue" numbers sung by dainty Miss De Witte. "Sun-Kist" is also unusual in that it was first produced on the Pacific Coast by Fauchon and Marco, and in spite of all sorts of dire predictions it was routed East, and finally into New York. It was like "bringing coals to Newcastle" to bring a western show into the theatrical metropolis, but New York's public and critics received it with extravagant praise, just as had been accorded it everywhere it had been presented, and its dazzling success at the Globe theater New York last spring and summer wrote a new page in theatrical history.

This season "Sun-Kist" is routed for its road tour with the big east of entertainers headed by Don Barclay and Doll Chain, America's foremost comedians; St. Layman and Helen Kling premier dancers of more than ordinary ability, Charlotte Woodruff, Daisy DeWitte, Hyman Meyer, Cornish Beck, Lucita Corvina, Evelyn Gerald, Helen Kennedy and Elsie Landia.

The original heavy chorus of California Sun-Kist girls are a big feature and will no doubt create as much of a furor here as they have in all other cities visited. "Sun-Kist" will be here in the Washington for one night only, next Thursday.

A. CLOONEY

Independent candidate for Sheriff of Mason County.

PLATFORM.

To administer the duties of the office impartially, not being handicapped by the machines of either political party. To accept as full compensation $6,500 per annum, a figure a little over one-third the amount the Sheriff's office receives under the present system. The above named sum to cover the total cost of the administration of the office, including the payment of deputies, clerk hire, etc.

To turn the difference between $6,500 and $15,000 approximately over to the commissioners to be used to improve the roads of Mason county, giving back for the benefit of the taxpayers between $11,000 and $10,000 during the term of office—a sum sufficient to resurface the greater portion of the main roads of Mason county.

To arrange a binding contract with the Commissioners of Mason county to put in force the provisions of this platform if elected.

The independent candidate has always been independent in politics. As Councilman he was identified actively with the period of Maysville's greatest civic advancement; fathering such moves as brick streets, concrete pavements, natural gas, etc.

Actively associated with every good roads project. A. CLOONEY. (Adv.)

ARMY OF CLOWNS IN RHODA ROYAL CIRCUS

Big Show Playing Maysville On Friday, October 7, Noted For Its Fun-Makers.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep and you weep alone." It is said that Jupiter laughed for seven days after he was born. If you want to experience the fellow-feeling for Jupiter, you should go to the performance of the Rhoda Royal big three-ring show, hippodrome and menagerie, combined with the Oklahoma Ranch West, which will exhibit in Maysville Friday, October 7, and witness the antics of the army of clowns; for, if you do see the funny fellows, you will surely laugh for many a day thereafter. Rhoda Royal's clown coterie is composed of the most competent producing clowns in the realms of showdom.

The big show display, proper, is one of remarkable magnitude and merit. The program is calculated to suit every arene taste and preference, being composed of every conceivable species of show act. But the whole is diversified, frequently, by the crowd of clowns, who, by their original and spontaneous humor, cause the spectators to emit veritable volcanic eruptions of laughter, which loudly reverberate in the dome of the huge amphitheater.

Some persons are of the opinion that the clown is no longer an essential or important part of the show. However, nothing could be further from the truth, for, as a matter of fact much of the success of the show depends upon these fun-makers. The little folk simply demand them — and everybody knows that the show must give the small boy and girl what ever they demand. The clowns must be furnished and the famous Rhoda Royal Shows furnish them.

Years ago, in the primey days of the one-ring show, a single singing clown or Shakespearian clown would suffice; at the present time, with a large railroad show, two score or more up-to-date clowns are required.

If you are feeling blue on circus day or have that tired feeling, the Rhoda Royal World Toured Three Ring Show clowns can cure you. Remember the day and date.
